

KYOGLE POLICE GUILTY OF TRESPASS

No Warrant and No Probable Cause

Supreme Court of New South Wales Ruling [2023] NSWSC 49

Justice Wright

Sanchia Romani v State of New South Wales

07 Feb 2023

Kyogle Police officers; Acting Sergeant, Senior Constable Tony Fahey and Senior Constable Daniel Rankin as instructed by Detective Inspector Aaron Greenwood of Casino Police.

No one is above the Common Law Rights of the living man or woman

- Every unauthorised entry upon private property is a trespass [Entick v. Carrington 1765]
- Any person who enters the property of another must justify that entry by showing that he or she either entered with the consent of the occupier of otherwise had lawful authority to enter the premises [Plenty v. Dillon 1991]
- Police Officers have no special rights to enter land, except in cases provided for by the common law and by statute [Kuru v. State of New South Wales 2008]
- Lawful authority means- a valid lawful warrant (take a very close look at any warrant), a crime is being committed, an emergency. Law is Supreme-not legal.
- That means-Privateers,Police, Council, Sheriff, Bailiff, Process Server, RSPCA, Private Investigators, Corporations, Debt collecting Agencies, Army, Agents or Representatives of the Crown or State, Federal, State or Local Agents, Australia Post or Courier Agents, Foreign Corporate Agents, United Nations Troops, HAVE NO SPECIAL RIGHTS. No one is above the law. No one has authority over another.

NO LAWYERS USED-Sanchia Romani self-presented
